HINEBECK’S OCTOBERFEST HAS A LOT MORE TO OFFER THAN BEER-GUZZLING AND POLKA-DANCING—THOUGH BOTH WILL BE WELcomed. THE THIRD ANNUAL HANDCRAFTED OCTOBERFEST: A FAMILY HARVEST CELEBRATION RETURNS TO THE DUTCHESS COUNTY FAIRGROUNDS ON OCTOBER 1 AND 2. THIS OPEN-AIR EVENT WAS VOTED ONE OF THE TOP CONTEMPORARY CRAFT SHOWS NATIONWIDE BY SUNSHINE ARTIST MAGAZINE. THE FESTIVAL HONORS HARVEST-TIME AND SLIPS IN A FEW GERMANIC TRADITIONS WHILE REMAINING CENTERED AROUND THE CONCEPT OF HANDMADE.

Visitors will delight in the creations of 150 juried artists & makers in over 10 media categories before indulging in handcrafted harvest activities. A curated selection of exhibitors ensures a distinctive shopping experience, offering a wide range of goods—from furniture to jewelry, clothing, pottery, home goods, fine art and more. After finding that one-size-fits-one gem for the home or body, fair-goers will enjoy a diverse selection of beer, food, and autumnal extras. Adults can shop, drink, dine and dance, while kids get crafty in a supervised and complimentary drop-off children’s tent.

Festival favorites include ongoing live music in the entertainment tent, horse-drawn carriage rides, an expansive petting zoo and exotic animal presentations, a weigh-in of what may be the state’s largest pumpkin (likely topping 1,500 pounds!), and family lawn games. Nationally renowned pumpkin carver Hugh McMahon, who has been featured on LIVE with Kelly & Ryan, Food Network and more, will be demonstrating the fine art of pumpkin carving weekend long.

“Handcrafted Octoberfest champions the craft, training and story behind each object and attraction. Featuring works of art and craft, but also gourmet specialty foods, local wine and spirits, and agricultural marvels, this fest celebrates the idea of small-batch and hand-spun, with lots of harvest fun for all ages, tastes and taste buds,” says Ola Rubinstein, director of Quail Hollow Events.

The title of the next Windham Arts Alliance show at Main Street Community Center is Beauty of the Catskills. The Catskills are brimming with beauty, and this fine art exhibition will showcase our majestic mountains in all their wonder and glory. Every visitor to the Catskills probably has a favorite view or destination. The beauty is unlimited.

The Catskills and surrounding area are known for the birth of American Landscape artists. This movement, known as the Hudson River School, during the 1800’s brought legitimacy to American art and gave American artists their own distinctive identity. Artists created works depicting the spiritual view of nature and emphasized the importance of man working with nature as humanity’s highest moral responsibility. Thomas Cole, Frederic Church and Albert Bierstadt are just a few of the artists of that period. Through their efforts, landscape painting gained its rightful place in the art world.

Today, many artists still flock to the Catskills to enjoy the scenery and take in the spirit of the Catskills. The style and mediums of expression may have changed over the years but the love of nature remains. Today more than ever it is important to appreciate our surroundings and work to keep our Earth safe. We still have a moral responsibility to our environment.

The artists who will be presenting at this show use a variety of mediums and styles of expression. There will be paintings, hand pulled prints, photography and pottery. Each artist was asked to determine the meaning of “The Beauty of the Catskills” and the relationship it has to the piece they are submitting to the show.

The show opens on September 10, 2022. Through the collaboration between the Windham Arts Alliance and the Main Street Community Center this will be a day to celebrate many forms of art. From 1 pm to 3 pm Francis Driscoll will present a slide show of his photography of the Catskills, taking you on a trip through his creative process. This will be followed by music by Scott Berwick and an opening and meet the artist celebration from 3 to 5 pm. This entire event is free and the art is for sale. You will have the opportunity to take home a piece of the Catskills.

On the weekend of Autumn Affair October 8 and 9 there will be an Open House at the MSCC from 10 am to 5 pm. Here is another opportunity to view the art and see what else the Main Street Community Center has to offer.

The Main Street Center is located at 5494 Route 23 in Windham. For more information about the Center and its programs, please visit mainstreetcenter.org. For more information about the Windham Arts Alliance, please visit windhamartsalliance.org.

The Woodstock Film Festival (WFF) has announced its return to the Hudson Valley, hosting screenings of over 100 feature narratives, documentaries, short films, events, and panels in venues across Woodstock, Kingston, Saugerties, and Rosendale for its upcoming 23rd annual festival slated for September 28 through October 2, 2022. The full lineup will be announced in early September with individual tickets going on sale at the same time. Weekend and Full Festival passes are currently available for purchase online at woodstockfilmfestival.org.

“2022, with all its turmoil and challenges, has been an exciting year for the Woodstock Film Festival, where we renovated our headquarters, increased and developed our board of directors, and expanded our programming across the Hudson Valley”, said Woodstock Film Festival Co-Founder & Executive Director Meira Blaustein. “Now I look forward to welcoming the many filmmakers and audiences to a full-blown film festival that is stronger than ever.”

Keeping pace with the Mid-Hudson Valley’s growth as an artistic hub, the 2022 Woodstock Film Festival will have a strong presence in several of the region’s major locales. Festival films will screen at the masterfully renovated Bearsville Center; as well as at Tinker Street Cinema, now under new management; the historic Woodstock Playhouse; and the Woodstock Community Center. Screenings will be held also at the Orpheum Theater in Saugerties, and the Rosendale Theater in Rosendale. Panels featuring intimate conversations with actors and creatives will be hosted on the bucolic grounds of White Feather Farm, an organic farm and event space set between Woodstock and Saugerties. WFF’s signature Maverick Awards ceremony will be held at the Ulster County Performing Arts Center (UPAC) in Kingston. Parties for attending filmmakers and industry members will occur at several locations during the run of the film festival.

The official poster for the 23rd Annual Woodstock Film Festival, unveiled earlier this year, features the work of renowned artist Joan Snyder. “‘Prelude/Yellow Field’ speaks of regeneration,” stated Snyder. “It was the first painting in a series of paintings that I made that spoke of life and death … dried flower stalks and yellow fields then growth signified by bright paint strokes. I’m thrilled and honored to have my work chosen for the 2022 Woodstock Film Festival poster. The painting was a fresh start for me and hopefully will signify an exciting year for the festival.”

Snyder joins past notable poster artists for the Woodstock Film Festival including Peter Max, Milton Glaser, Mary Frank, Portia Munson, Bill Plympton, John Cuneo, Scott Michael Ackerman, Bill Miller, Kathy Ruttenberg, Adi Blaustein Rejto and Beck Underwood, and several others.

Recently announced are this year’s honorary award recipients at the festival, including the festival’s prestigious honorary Maverick Award, presented this year to four-time Academy Award-nominated Actor/Director Ethan Hawke, the honorary Fiercely Independent Award presented to Academy Award-nominated filmmaker Debra Granik, and the honorary Trailblazer Award presented to IFC Film’s President Arianna Bocco.

For more than sixty years, Ernest C. Withers (1922–2007) recorded the everyday lives of the Black citizens of Memphis, TN. He was on the front lines of the Civil Rights Movement, covering key flashpoints from the Emmett Till trial through the assassination of Martin Luther King, Jr. But he was also secretly an FBI informant. The Picture Taker keenly explores this contradiction that straddles the borderline between art and the emotion-laden politics of race. Phil Bertelsen is a Woodstock Film Festival alumnus and an Emmy and Peabody award-winning producer and director who uses film and television to entertain, inspire, and provoke audiences.

▶ WOODSTOCK INSIDER’S TIP! ◀

Among my favorite hikes are around Onteora Lake, up to Huckleberry Point, along Poets Walk, around Lake Minnewaska, and along all the three Ashokan Rail Trails. I like to eat or drink outside at Hutton Brickyard, Early Terrible, The Garden Cafe, and lots of other great spots in the area. I don’t go much into the swimming holes but if I can get away to the beach, that is always a favorite.

WOODSTOCK INSIDER’S TIP!

During the school year, I commute back and forth from Brooklyn a couple of times a week to lead this historic art organization. In late June I settle in Woodstock for the duration of the summer. Living here in the summertime is a delightful combination of work and play! My favorite hike is to the Saugerties Lighthouse for a brief meditation by the Hudson River. I enjoy music at Levon Helm Studios, a vegan meal at the Garden Cafe, shopping at Woodstock Design and meeting artists at the Saugerties Artists Studio Tour.

WOODSTOCK INSIDER’S TIP!

My perfect day would start with light breakfast in the screen room enjoying the breeze (hopefully). Wandering around the vegetable garden with my cup of tea, weeding and fiddling while my puppy roams around the garden chasing chipmunks and crickets. Later in the day might include a leisurely walk by the reservoir with our puppy, or a swim on a particularly hot day. A summer weekend day would definitely include a stroll through the Mower’s Market and a walk on Tinker Street to see what is new. Wrapping up the day, maybe a nap on the hammock in the backyard, in the shade. Dinner, definitely cooked outside on the grill with salad/veggies from the garden while enjoying the late sunset and coolness of the evening as the sun sets.

WOODSTOCK INSIDER’S TIP!

We love to hike. Some favorite hikes include the Slide Mountain/Cornell Mountain/Wittenberg Mountain loop; the Jimmy Dolan notch, where there is a great rock scramble up to Twin Mountain; Ashokan High Point, especially as a winter hike is spectacular. WOODSTOCK INSIDER’S TIP!

I love a good day off and taking time to explore nature while living here in the beautiful Hudson Valley. There are so many trails, paths, streams and lakes that offer breathtaking views throughout the area. Of course, we’ve all got our favorite local spots and I’ll share one of my very favorite spots with you which is Platte Clove! What I love about Platte Clove is that I can take a hike and upon working up a good summer sweat, I can take a dip in the refreshing, clear, crisp mountain water in the stream that flows down the mountainside. There is even a spot where all of the weather has made a rock into a natural water slide up at Platte Clove! I’ll wear a pair of Keen or Teva sandals for my summer hikes so I have good traction that’s also water friendly footwear for when I take a swim! Platte Clove is also great in the fall to view the amazing foliage! If you’re taking a winter hike at Platte Clove, be sure to wear a pair of ice spikes and maybe grab a walking stick as well as it gets slippery up there! Platte Clove offers a full-on nature oasis that can be enjoyed by folks of all ages but make sure you’re wearing the right pair of trail shoes for safety’s sake!

WOODSTOCK INSIDER’S TIP!

Our Catskills summer of 2022 will be remembered for unrelenting heat and lack of rain. It’s too hot and humid for hiking. Without a breeze, fleeing to the shade gives limited relief. But there are rewards if one takes the time to seek them. The echinacea, bee balm, butterfly bushes and pink “dinner-plate” hibiscus planted half a dozen years ago are—despite the weather challenges—blooming riotously, hosting bees, butterflies, and passers-by seeking selfies. The robins show up every time we water the plants in pots, hoping to catch a few drops. My method: Playing to the strengths of my garden. Going with what works, what takes, and not sweating what doesn’t. Too soon, it will be time to plant again, plant with the hope of a new texture, a new color, a new host, popping up in the spring to begin filling in that empty space among the long-timers. And then—because I can—showing up first thing at the West Hurley Library plant sale to reap my neighbors’ intriguing excesses.

The Woodstock Invitational Luthiers Showcase is an annual acoustic guitar festival for the community of acoustic stringed-instrument builders, players, collectors and aficionados, presenting a gathering of the finest handmade acoustic guitars and stringed musical instruments from around the world!

The next Woodstock Invitational Luthiers Showcase is scheduled for October 21, 22 and 23, at the Bearsville Center, 291 Tinker Street in Woodstock. Showcase hours are 11 am to 6 pm each day.

A luthier (from the word lute) is a stringed-instrument maker. Fine handmade instruments such as these are not usually available in music stores or other retail environments, and the Luthiers Showcase is a rare opportunity for the public to see, play and experience the instruments, meet with their makers, discuss custom options and one of a kind creations, and buy or order a dream guitar from dozens of master builders, all gathered together in one place. Other vendors include tonewood dealers, parts and tool suppliers, string and accessories manufacturers, publications and instructional materials, luthier services and schools. The three-day show features continuous live music, mini-concerts, demos and special appearances; plus special exhibits and special events included in the admission fee. We also present a series of instructional clinics and workshops, taught by some of the world’s finest instrumentalists, and our annual String Sampler Concert, by separate admission.

Woodstock, NY is the internationally known art and music community with a deep pool of notable local talent. Only a two-hour drive from New York City, October is peak autumn foliage season in the heart of the Catskill Mountains.

Advance tickets for the 2022 Woodstock Invitational Luthiers Showcase are on sale now through the Bearsville Theater Box Office. General admission is $25 per day; a three-day pass is $60 and includes all exhibits in the Bearsville Theater, Utopia Soundstage and Tonewood Tent, plus 7 hours per day of continuous live music—luthier mini-concert demonstrations and special appearances—in the Bearsville Theater Lounge. Rhinebeck’s Octoberfest has a lot more to offer than beer-guzzling and polka-dancing—though both will be welcomed. The third annual Handcrafted Octoberfest: A Family Harvest Celebration returns to the Dutchess County Fairgrounds on October 1st and 2nd. This open-air event was voted one of the top Contemporary Craft shows nationwide by Sunshine Artist Magazine. The festival honors harvest time and slips in a few Germanic traditions while remaining centered around the concept of handmade. Visitors will delight in the creations of 150 juried artists & makers in over ten media categories before indulging in handcrafted harvest activities.

A Greene County Garden in September

By Margaret Donsbach Tomlinson

Greene County gardeners are used to coping with heavy rains, but not drought. As I write, the water level in the Catskill reservoir is worrisomely low, and the Village has asked residents to stop watering lawns and to conserve as much water as possible.

Lawn grasses naturally go dormant when dry, pausing growth and turning brown until rain revives them. Established trees and shrubs typically have deep root systems reaching moist earth even when surface soil is parched. Annuals and perennials vary in their ability to tolerate drought. Often, those that manage best are the ones closest to their wild forms.

In hot, dry conditions, arugula stays surprisingly green and healthy, although it will taste more peppery. It has changed relatively little from its wild ancestor, which still grows wild in Italy. Lettuce, though, turns tough and bitter in a dry summer, if it even survives. It’s descended from Lactuca virosa, native to European and African coastal areas, which grows 6 feet tall, tastes extremely bitter, and exudes an opium-like sap.

Black-eyed Susans (Rudbeckia hirta) are native to the Eastern U.S. and will flower abundantly even in drought conditions. Their hairy leaves help conserve moisture by reducing air flow at the leaf surface. In contrast, rhododendrons have naturally shallow root systems and need regular water. Homeowners who find rhododendrons too thirsty might consider replacing them with ninebark, Physocarpus opulifolius. Similar in size to rhododendrons, ninebark shrubs have arching branches whose leaves may be lime green, yellow, deep reddish-bronze, or true green, depending on the variety. Its clusters of small white flowers develop red seed capsules in late summer. A North American native, it thrives in moist soil but tolerates dry spells with aplomb.

Trees and shrubs will most easily weather periods of drought if the gardener has helped them develop extensive root systems by watering deeply and not too often. When the soil stays reliably moist at the lowest part of the root system but dries out near the soil surface between waterings, the plant’s roots will keep stretching downward to a depth that naturally holds more moisture during dry spells.

Mulching with a layer of straw, wood chips, or compost is another way to help plants weather drought. An area of flagstones around a tree or shrub can serve the same purpose. Have you noticed that the grass growing through crevices in sidewalks stays green longer than the lawn does? Paving is a barrier to evaporation and can help keep roots moist—as long as it’s not so extensive that it directs rainfall out of the garden.

Let’s hope that by the time you read this, some good rains have replenished water reservoirs and refreshed plants and gardeners alike.
Now in its third year, Kaatscast is the region’s premier bi-weekly podcast focusing on Catskills history, community, arts & culture, sustainability, and tourism.

The winner of the 2022 Chronogrammies Readers’ Choice Awards, the podcast has collaborated on programming with regional organizations including Sustainable Hudson Valley, the Jerry Bartlett Angling Collection, and Catskill Tri-County Historical Views. It is supported by local sponsors, including the Central Catskills Chamber of Commerce, the Catskill Mountains Scenic Byway, Hanford Mills Museum, and The Mountain Eagle. The series is also listener-supported, and anyone can make a $1, $5, or $10 monthly donation at Kaatscast.com.

Kaatscast is produced by Brett Barry, of Chichester-based Silver Hollow Audio, a creator of podcasts, audio tours, public radio segments, and audiobooks. “Kaatscast combines my love of the Catskills with a passion for engaging audio storytelling,” said Barry, a longtime Catskills resident who also teaches media production at SUNY New Paltz. “There’s no shortage of stories to be told, and this podcast has been such a fun way to connect with the communities and people here. A podcast is also just an incredible tool for preserving local history.”

Silver Hollow Audio is the recipient of an AudioFile magazine “Earphones Award” and is a Central Catskills Chamber of Commerce “Entrepreneur of the Year.” In July, the company earned Ulster County’s “Green Business” certification. Silver Hollow Audio was founded in 2005 and is a proud member of 1% for the Planet, committing at least 1% of annual revenues to environmental organizations. Have you been enjoying the summer in the Catskills? The month of September brings (hopefully) cooling temperatures and by mid-month, hints of the vivid leaf colors that will peak in early October. While September signifies a slow end to summer, it is a great time to get outside and enjoy the region. Crowds are starting to thin, the temperatures are moderating, and there is generally good weather, all of which make it the perfect time to take the hike, ride a bike, visit a farmers market, have a picnic, or partake in any other Catskills adventure you had been planning!

One thing though, the Catskills have been busy. We’ve seen high levels of use throughout the region, especially at our most popular trailheads and destinations. When you are enjoying the great outdoors in the Catskills, we need you to act responsibly and take care of the great outdoors. The Catskill Park is a “Carry It In, Carry It Out Park,” and that means you won’t find trash receptacles along trails or at trailheads—what you bring in, you should pack back out and take home to dispose of properly. If we all do our part, we can maintain the environment and protect the important natural resources of the Catskills.

Most importantly, we all must work to Leave No Trace when we visit the great outdoors. There are seven principles to the Leave No Trace message, but the overall message is the most important. When you visit an area, leave it as good, if not better, than when you arrived. That means staying on trail, not damaging natural features, bringing all of your trash out with you (including orange peels), and being aware of your impacts on the environment and your fellow hikers.

Please do your part and make sure the forests, trails, swimming holes, and even our roadsides aren’t covered in litter!

Hike for the Catskills
Get ready for a summer hiking challenge and help preserve the Catskills as the Catskill Center offers “Hike for the Catskills.” The four-week challenge involves setting a campaign goal and then hitting the trails.

“From practically unlimited vistas from our highest mountain peaks, to the immersive forest solitude in our remote creek valleys, the Catskills have a plethora of beautiful areas to explore... and enjoy. With ‘Hike for the Catskills,’ it is our sincere hope that folks take the time to enjoy our mountains and trails in a respectful way,” said Jeff Senterman, Executive Director of the Catskill Center. “‘Hike for the Catskills’ is the perfect way to blend together outdoor recreation, exploration of our amazing forever wild Catskill Park, and raising funds for the Catskill Center to do the important work of protecting our beautiful Catskills.”

“Hike for the Catskills” is an opportunity to explore natural beauty and help us protect critical Catskills habitats, keep our land and waters wild, and advocate for our communities and the Catskill Park. We aim to raise $15,000 with this event. Register at hikeforthecatskills.com.

The Catskill Center has provided some suggested hikes, including ones for all abilities, from level paths to ones around 3,500 feet. Some of the paths are accessible to individuals who use wheelchairs, including those at the Catskills Visitor Center. There will be guided hikes at points throughout the four-week challenge. Hike the Catskills with the Hiker Trash Husbands
For years, my husband and I have been trying to find ways to better communicate the love that we have for the outdoors and for hiking, to our friends and family who don’t necessarily get out as much as we do. One of the ways we discovered how to do that was to start a YouTube channel about our hiking adventures. Thus was born the idea for The Hiker Trash Husbands, which you can now find on YouTube with lots of hikes in the Catskills, at youtube.com/thehikertrashhusbands.

For both of us, The Hiker Trash Husbands is not only a way to show friends and family our hiking adventures, but an effort to provide positive LGBTQ+ representation in the hiking world.
We’re looking forward to showcasing our own hiking adventures, along with finding other queer outdoors folks to highlight as we build this effort out. You can learn more by visiting our website at hikertrashhusbands.com.

If you’re in the Catskills and have cable provided by MTC, you can catch our videos on CatskillsAir, MTC Channel 1.

Loving the Catskills to Life!

We often hear how a place is “loved to death” and can easily see how overuse or high use can negatively impact the natural areas that people want to visit. As part of anything that we do, we want to make sure we are able to welcome more visitors to the Catskills to enjoy our important places, all without harming those places! We want to make sure our visitors help invest in and regenerate our natural areas—we want to love the Catskills to life!

In my mind we can all take a few steps in that direction:

1. As residents or visitors, we need to ensure that we do not just take from the Catskills. We need to find ways to give back, whether they are large or small. When you’re hiking and see a candy bar wrapper, pick it up and pack it out! Thinking bigger? There are lots of volunteer opportunities in the Catskills tackling everything from invasive species to trail maintenance to staffing a fire tower!

2. We need to raise our voices for the Catskill Park. We need to continue the good work that has been accomplished in Albany and ensure continued funding to improve the infrastructure of the Catskill Park. These improvements make the Park more accessible, but at the same time help ensure natural resources protection and make for a better Park experience.

3. We need to pass on our love and appreciation for wild areas and the Catskills to new users and generations while understanding that those we talk to may have none of the experiences we have had, and their frames of reference are likely completely different.

4. We need to help the communities of the Catskills. When we enjoy the great outdoors, we need to make sure we also stop on main streets and enjoy our local communities. Get a coffee at a local shop, buy a sandwich for lunch at a deli within the Catskills. Outdoor enthusiasts need to use their economic potential for good in the Catskills!

Do your part and love the Catskills to life!

Give Back to the Catskills

The natural beauty, the majesty of the mountains, the protection of the Catskill Forest Preserve, the region’s natural and cultural resources, all need your help! FUN-BASED STRATEGIES IN SUSTAINABILITY
A discussion with NY Zipline’s Bradd Morse

While the world is inundated with newspaper headlines announcing dramatic global weather events related to climate change, Bradd Morse, owner of NY Zipline Adventures at Hunter Mountain, is actively taking measures in sustainability. He works with companies, individuals, and nations worldwide to provide direction in sustainable tourism and advisory services through his sister company, Canopy Consulting, Inc.

For Morse, who has spearheaded zipline projects all over the world, the application of sustainability expands far beyond an economically-focused goal. His mission is on the greater extent of how you affect community within an environment. This includes creating jobs, establishing housing, and utilizing tourism dollars to build a community.

At an early age, Morse’s work with eco-tourism organizations exposed him to the world of sustainability and its importance. His personal journey began at the age of 16, when his sister alerted him to a newspaper advertisement for a summer job in ziplining. Admittedly, Morse had no knowledge of ziplining, but once he took a training class, he was hooked.

“I have dyslexia and Attention Deficit Disorder, and probably every other letter that exists in experiential learning,” he said. “Hands-on doing just clicked with me.”

In the ’80s Morse worked for a company to develop team building programs for corporate executives, and while he attended state college in Massachusetts, MIT hired him to run its outdoor adventure program as a way to offer students a less analytical-focused activity. His career as an outdoor adventure specialist continued to blossom. In 2016 he became involved with the United Nations in China, where he spoke during a conference on eco-tourism. This led to a global forum on human settlements, a UN-sponsored organization where he now serves as an ambassador.

Morse, who resides in Lexington, N.Y., has received two sustainability awards, one for creating a low carbon spot on the planet with his New York zip line, and the other for a business he created in St. Thomas. His designs of tourist attractions around the world all focus on sustainability. In fact, he recently finished a first draft for the Global Sustainable Tourism Council’s criteria.

“How you work and make things sustainable in my business is to just look at how you spend money and what your expenses are in the products that you use,” he said.

Fencing, benches, and artwork are constructed from the trees and branches taken down during construction. All items sold in the retail shop of NY Zipline Adventures are sustainably sourced, with stickers identifying its origins. He avoids the use of plastic, single-use water bottles and sells boxed water, but encourages guests to bring their own water bottles and fill them courtesy of a watering system he offers free of charge.

Morse’s latest project is using battery-operated baskets for his ziplines, and he’s investigating the use of biodiesel for his company trucks.

As Morse states, “it’s all about what little impact I can contribute as a member of the global community.”

The 2022 exploration days at Hanford Mills are designed to give visitors a chance to explore the mill and experience a variety of engaging activities and programs offered by local presenters and Museum staff at Hanford Mills.

Our September 24th Exploration Day, Metal at the Mill, will focus on the sustainable use of metals and a variety of other materials. Thanks to a generous sponsorship by NCYM Insurance admission to this Exploration Day will be free.

SUNY Delhi’s Sustainability Program and Green Team will have representatives on site, displaying a solar powered battery system and giving visitors the opportunity to learn more about SUNY Delhi’s bachelor of science sustainability program and why sustainability matters to every aspect of our world.

In addition to SUNY Delhi, The 6th Annual Catskill Conquest Rally, sponsored by the Historic Automobile Endurance Runs, will rumble through Hanford Mills for a mid to late afternoon stop. Come and see these unique historic cars.

Demonstrations will take place throughout the day of the waterwheel and historic machines in the mill, and historic cooking demonstrations will be offered in the Hanford Farmhouse.

Hanford Mills will also host the Catskills Folk Connections exhibit, “Folk Art in Metal.” The exhibit features five artists, whose work in metal varies from traditional blacksmithed hardware and hand-hammered copper bowls to modern metal furniture, and from whirligigs made from Volkswagen Beetle parts to ingenious figures created from tools, kitchen utensils, and old musical instruments.

The festivities will also include an afternoon performance by the Stoddard Hollow String Band.

ABOUT HANFORD MILLS MUSEUM

The museum is listed on the National and New York State Registers of Historic Places.
